Doctors Say 'Drink More'

One's body requires TEN glasses of fluid per day. Most people drink less—too little to flush the body of its waste. The result is bad blood, nervousness, disease. Then the doctor says "DRINK MORE," and he knows this advice is worth more than medicine.

Let us supply you with our beverages. "Drink more." Give your body more fluid, which is also a FOOD and a TONIC.

THAT PUAKO SCHOOL

Editor Evening Bulletin:—I notice in your last weekly issue some pointed criticisms in regard to the building of school houses at Puako and Kawaihae.

I think your correspondent has not given the subject the accurate attention it deserves. Let me remind your correspondent that for every single school taxpayer at Kawaihae, there are ten at Puako.

That the total amount of taxes collected at Puako equals almost fifteen times the amount collected at Kawaihae.

That the Board of Education is not erecting school houses in places for what they have been in the past, but, very sensibly, for what they will become in the near future.

And also, that in a generation from now probably no one will remember that such a place as Kawaihae ever existed.

With no abnormal condition of the nerves, I remain,

Yours truly,

Puako, Hawaii, July 27.

NOTLEY TO LEAD HOME RULE TICKET

Named By Acclamation At Yesterday's Convention.

LEADING HOME RULERS THINKS KUHIO WILL WIN

THE HOME RULE DELEGATES PAY RESPECTS TO EX-QUEEN LI-LUOKALANI AND DEPART.

The Home Rule Territorial Convention nominated Charles Notley as its candidate for Delegate to Congress yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Notley was placed in nomination by Jonah Kumalae. The only other nomination was Senator D. Kalanokalani, whose name was presented by Representative Makekau. Senator Kalanokalani withdrew and Notley was nominated by acclamation.

In response to calls from the Delegates, Mr. Notley made a brief speech, thanking the convention for the honor bestowed and urging all Hawaiians to stick by the Home Rule party.

Notley said the Democrats and Republicans had come to be one and the same. He referred to the dead leader of the Home Rule party, Robert W. Wilcox, and hoped, if sent to Washington, to accomplish a fraction of what Wilcox did.

He said there was nothing in the Constitution of the United States which required this country to be represented by a Republican or a Democrat. He counselled his hearers to pay no heed to slurs of the enemy and march straight ahead.

He cautioned the party to be careful in the selection of representatives and senators and pick out good men.

Charles Notley was born at Waimae, South Kohala, on April 20, 1861. His father was an Englishman, now dead, and his mother a Hawaiian. He was first educated in the Lyons school at South Kohala and he afterwards attended the Lunalilo College at Lahaina up to 1871 when he went to the Haleakala school, remaining until 1874. He then attended another school in Waimae until 1877. He was married in 1877 and afterwards went into the plantation business. He came to Honolulu in 1887 and worked for some time in the Survey Department of the Hawaiian Government.

He was appointed as collector of the Hilo Custom House under the Republic, was compelled to give up after a brief regime. He has since resided in Honolulu.

The delegates met last night at the Orpheum and while there was no business to transact the time was occupied in speechmaking.

This morning the delegates again met at the Orpheum to adjourn sine die. After adjournment they proceeded in a body to the home of Queen Li-luokalani, who received them cordially.

After paying their respects to their former ruler the delegates went their way, nearly all leaving on the Kinau for Maui and Hawaii.

The Home Rule convention was not the enthusiastic affair such gatherings have been in the past. The leaders of the party themselves do not honestly believe that Notley can be elected. They virtually expect his defeat but consider his candidacy an absolute guarantee that Delegate Kuhio will go to Congress again.

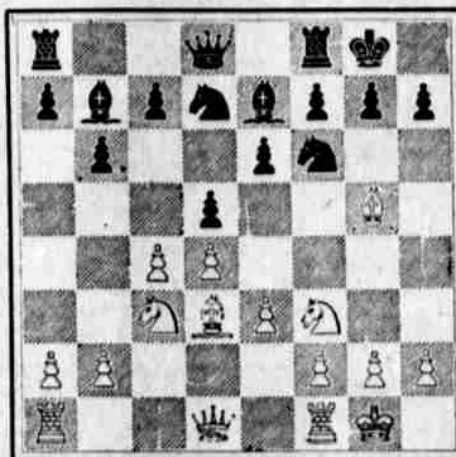

A little canvassing of the delegates showed that Kuhio was the favorite, and his reelection desired. The Home Rule party is strongest in Maui and West Hawaii. In Maui the old militant spirit and they are Forsythe.
